CASTING CALL FOR LOCAL FEATURE COMEDY

Saturday, May 8th, 10:00 AM to 2:00 PM

Rich Camp Ent., the company behind the local feature comedy, Lumberjacking which premiered November at the Park Theatre in Cranston, will be hosting a casting call on Saturday, May 8th, from 10 AM to 2 PM at the Sprague Mansion in Cranston for their upcoming feature comedy, "Until Sprague Do We Part." The story of two guys who become ghost hunters in order to find their recently deceased best friend in order to hang out with him one last time.

RCE is looking to cast multiple roles from the leading duo to supporting characters for the film which is scheduled to film late June of this year. The roles that are being casted are as follow:

-Chris: the 25 year-old lead character who leads the duo to a ghost hunt in order to find his brother.

-Jackie: 25 year-old lead character who is more of a distraction, with his illogical comments and suggestions, than a help him with finding the friend's ghost.

-Hector: the middle aged undertaker/owner of the funeral parlor the main characters work at. Very straight faced and monotone while providing much comic relief.

-Sara: Hector the undertaker's attractive daughter who is romantically involved with Chris but doesn't want to deal with Jackie's antics.

-Justin: a 15 year-old ghost hunter want to be who answers a craigslist post to help the main characters.

-Ryan: a 15 year old girl from the neighborhood who's kind of a town-boy who hangs out with the lead two characters, despite their drastic age difference.

Among many day parts (including four attractive girls in their twenties, a couple middle aged women, a few middle aged men, etc.) all involve a few lines and decent screen time.
